Can I find Microsoft account balance statements?

To review app, game or subscription purchases, track orders, or view and print invoices, sign in to your order history page. Select 'Personal account' or 'Work account' tab below for your account type.

Personal account Work account

Download or print Microsoft account order details

1. Sign in to your order history page at account.microsoft.com/billing.

   Tip

   If you have more than one account, make sure you're signed in to the correct Microsoft account for those purchases.

2. Select Payment & billing > Order history, then, under Refine, select the order and date range you want.

3. Look for charges with a status of Completed or Redeemed. Charges with a status of In progress haven't been posted to your payment option yet.

4. To print an invoice, select Order details from the order you want, then select Print. You can also use the print function in your browser to print the page. In Microsoft Edge, right-click anywhere in the page (or select and hold if you're using a touch screen device), then select Print.

Find Microsoft account balance statements

After we post a charge to your payment option, you'll see the amount and description on the statement from that payment option. This could be a credit card statement, cell phone provider statement, or other payment option, depending on how you paid.
